Appraising Condos, Co-ops, and PUDs 7 CE hr Friday, September 10, 2021

Check in begins at 8:15am; class starts at 8:30am

Instructor: Maureen Sweeney, SRA, AI-RRS

Single-family attached homes like condominiums, cooperatives, and townhouses are the primary housing option in many urban markets. New construction detached houses are typically in subdivisions and master plan communities. Age-restricted communities are popular with retirees. Most of these developments have one thing in common: they all have associations which are governed by condominium declarations, bylaws, and/or covenants, conditions, and restrictions which affect the bundle of rights. The first part of this seminar builds the foundation for the discussion on appraising residential properties in community associations. You'll learn why it is necessary to know how to identify the property type, why it is important to have a full understanding of the governing documents, why you need to understand where it is located, and why it's critical to analyze the market. From there, you'll examine the four specific groups of community organizations: condominiums, cooperatives, planned unit developments (PUDs), and condominium hotels. Objectives:

- Identify the differences between condominiums, cooperatives, and planned unit developments.
- Understand how the bundle of rights is affected by the ownership rights associated with these property types.
- Understand how condominiums, cooperatives, and planned unit developments fit in the valuation process.
- Discover which questions to ask when collecting data for condominiums, cooperatives, and planned unit developments.
- Provide credible assignment results to your client and intended users.

Artificial Intelligence, AVMs, and Blockchain: Implications for Valuation

4 CE hrs Thursday, October 14, 2021

Check in begins at 12:45pm; class is 1-5pm

Instructor: Mark Linne, MAI, SRA (COURSE DEVELOPER)

What if you could accomplish more in less time? It may sound crazy, but the idea that appraising is relegated to retrospective analysis may no longer be relevant. Within five years, experts predict that 50% of our interactions will involve artificial intelligence (AI). That's going to unlock an entirely new workflow for the appraisal profession and a new set of capabilities that will drive the back office to the forefront of business strategy. What is clear is that AI and the technologies associated with it will continue to transform how we interact with information and machines. Objectives:

- Understand the components of AI including the internet, big data, machine learning, and the internet of things.
- Understand the relationship of the interplay between the components of AI.
- See how real estate appraisal is impacted by technological change that will be further altered by advances in AI.
- Understand how to change in order to meet the new challenges.
- Understand blockchain and how it can be used to facilitate real estate transactions.
- Understand how technologies work in tandem with blockchain to transform the real estate marketplace.
- Recognize challenges & potential to gain knowledge to use to provide more relevant analysis to your clients.

When you register, either choose to download the materials or have them shipped directly to you. (There are no materials for NJ and PA Regs, or Case Studies in Partial Interests.)
